

Making a connection with your child:

Join Sally Mordi and Seema Islam to find out more about Intensive Interaction

- A responsive approach – follows your child's lead.
- Gives your child opportunities to initiate.
- Gives you time to tune-in to your child.
- A fun and effective way of supporting communication.

This evidence-based approach is suitable for all, whether or not your child uses speech and whatever their age. Join us to find out more.

Sally is a Speech and Language Therapist, clinical lead for autism in Enfield and author of “Working with autistic children and young people: a practical guide for speech and language therapists”.

Seema is Chair of Our Voice the Parent Carer forum for Enfield and has experience of using intensive interaction with her own child.
